

FREE ONLINE PROGRAM!

Mentor Quality Matters

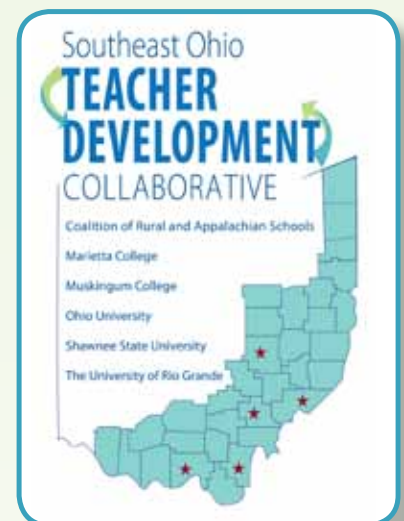

Supporting a Continuum of Teacher Development

The Ohio Standards for the Teaching Profession (OSTP) are the framework for Ohio's Continuum of Teacher Development through the levels of pre-licensure, residency, teaching and leading. Beginning January 18 and ending March 14, 2012, the Southeast Ohio Teacher Development Collaborative (SEOTDC) is offering FREE online professional development modules to assist cooperating teachers (i.e.: experienced teachers who mentor pre-licensure teacher candidates during their professional internships) and the school principal. Self-paced modules include an overview of mentoring (i.e.: definitions, mentor qualities, mentoring styles), as well as an overview of Ohio's Continuum of Teacher Development and its alignment with OSTP. Participants will have the opportunity to communicate via "Blackboard" and interact with other cooperating teachers/mentors, principals and SEOTDC university teacher educators.

—————To Register, Please Visit: —————

www.coras.org/pd2012.html

*Registration opens December 1, 2011 and closes January 3, 2012

QUESTIONS? MORE INFO?

Contact: Dr. Barbara Trube
Assistant Dean for Academic Engagement and Outreach
(740) 593-0253
trube@ohio.edu

Workshop credits* and a certificate of participation are available.

This online professional development series is supported by the Southeast Ohio Teacher Development Collaborative (SEOTDC) partners (the educator preparation programs at Marietta College, Muskingum University, Ohio University, The University of Rio Grande and Shawnee State University), the Coalition of Rural and Appalachian Schools (CORAS) and a grant from the Martha Holden Jennings Foundation.

*Fees may apply to Workshop Credits

